WM. E. CURTISS. Special Agent Department of State. Mr. John H. Ricketson stated that he had been talking with President Schmertz on the subject, and he therefore moved that the President, at his discretion, appoint a suitable com-mittee to consist of the Mayors of the two cities, the Presidents of Councils, the chair-men of the different Chamber of Commerce committees, as well as a number of representative manufacturers, with Mr. Schmertz as Chairman of the whole, to act as a Reception

PITTSBURG'S OPPORTUNITY. Mr. George H. Anderson said that the visit of these delegates was a rare opportunity to let the people of North and South America know ust what Pittsburg can do. He thought the international Conference a good thing and as this city was directly interested the visitors should be well treated and given a grand recep-

President H. P. Ford, of Select Council, who was at the meeting by invitation, stated that the visit of these delegates was an important the visit of these delegates was an important matter. He was sorry to say that the city of Pittsburg had made no appropriation for such a reception, and nothing could be done in that respect now. He was, however, in hearty sympathy with any movement looking to the entertainment of the visitors, and would do all in his power to aid in such a reception. President George Holliday, of Common Councils, echoed tile sentiments of Mr. Ford.

Rev. Dr. Allison made a few remarks showing his interest in the matter. He had read a great deal lately about North and South America, and wondered that the United States was and wondered that the United States was sea, and wondered that the United States was so slow in taking advantage of the wonderful markets that were open. The trade of those countries is now mostly done with England and Germany, and at present the people there have to pay enormous prices for what they get. He thought that no other city in the country hand is more interested in this matter than should be more interested in this matter than

Hon, Thomas M. Bayne, who was also pres ent by invitation, was invited to make a few remarks on the subject, and he stated that he had no aggestions to make in the matter. He thought conference. The first was humane measures for settlements of disputes by amicable measures instead of war. The other was the extension of knowledge of our products. The speaker thought Pittsburg had a greater interest in the onference than any other city, because of the

Mr. George A. Kelly remarked that the committee could show them all they wanted, but that it would do no good. He thought what was most needed was protection for the ship-ping industries in North and South America. The reason they got their goods from England and Germany was because of the protection provided for their shapping interests was to jet them know that the United St will no longer suffer the humiliation that the shipping interests have been subjected to. Mr. Ricketson's motion was then adopted.

PORT DELEGATES COMING.

It consists of the proprietors of steamships, steamboats and other team vessels through the United States, engaged either in ocean or inland navigation. Delegates will attend from all the port cities of the country, from Maine to California, and matters of vital interest to American con merce will be discussed. It is probable that the delegates will be entertained at a banquet at the Monogabela House and given a com-plimentary excursion up the Monongabela

THE CORONER'S INQUEST

Develops the Fact That Both Italians Were Bnd Men-The Murdered Brother Started

Yesterday morning the Coroner held an inquest on the body of Michael Francischello, who was killed by his brother in the East End on Saturday night. The leading parties in the case were examined, and some interesting facts gained from their testimony. Dominico De Lalla was in the room where the murder was committed during the hours of 9 and 10. He said that five people were there, and he denied that the prisoner had played cards with the deceased. The prisoner heard his brother say that he was going to play cards with another man for $2, and forbade him to do it. The deceased insisted that he would play, it. The deceased insisted that he would play, and struck his brother for interfering. The witness then ran out of the room to avoid being implicated in the row.

Domenae Staluto corroborated the preceding witness, and added that the prisoner tried to avoid a disturbance and kept moving away. The deceased man was held for a time, while he was putting his hand in his pocket, presunably to get a weapon. He broke away, however, went after the brother and shortly afterward was heard to exclaim. "I am wounded." Guisseppi Chippola testified that he heard the prisoner say: "Well, we will play for $2." The deceased said: "No, you must not play." Thereupon the prisoner was slapped in the face and kicked twice, and witness ran to his room. When he ran away the deceased was trying to get something out of his inside pocket, and he heard the prisoner exclaim, "Oh, my poor brother."

Guitana Mattenallo also testified that the de-

Guitano Martenello also testified that the de ceased had struck his brother and had forced the quarrel, and that he even held a closed knife in his hand. He saw the prisoner have a large knife, and got at a safe distance. Peter Posalla, the head of the bouse, said he attempted to stop the prisoner. Drs. McCandless and Rugh testified to the character of the wounds infilited, any one of them, they said, would have been fatal.

All the brothers testified that the deceased and his brother were very bad men, and had that reputation in Italy. There had been no card playing previous to the trouble, and it was the assire to play which led to the murder. The five persons present all contributed something toward buying a keg of beer, and the men were slightly under its effects when the trouble occurred. ceased had struck his brother and had forced

The jury rendered a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his death through vio-lence done him by his brother, the prisoner.

RIVER ENCROACHMENTS.

Captain Drave Stirs Up the Chamber of Commerce on the Subject-He is Afraid

Hon. John F. Dravo, who has just returned from a convention of rivermen at Cincinnati, made a verbal report, and stated that among many other subjects discussed which were important to this city was one about the encroachment on the river channels by manufacturers. This matter, the speaker said, was an important one, and if not stopped will, in time, cause a repetition of the Johnstown flood. He*characterized the filling in as an unmitigated outrage, that should receive immediate attention. Hon, Morrison Foster stated that in 1858 the State established high and low water lines for Pittsburg and Alleghens, and a map was made by surveyors. This map was filed in the Court of Common Pleas, and will show who are encroaching on the water lines. He suggested that the Committee on Rivers and Harbors be

Colonel Bayne asked permission to make a few remarks on the subject, which was granted.
Mr. Bayne then stated that the work of establishing water lines was supereregation on the part of the State of Pennsylvania, and she had no legal right to do it. The work of establishing such times belongs distinctly to the National Government, which has supreme jurisdiction in such matters. He advised the Chamber of Commerce not to commit itself on the ber of Commerce not to commit itself on the

If you cannot spare the Colonel Bayne, as well as all present, thought cash you can get your plane any time, on this was the best scheme that could possibly be payment of $25 cash and $2 50 per week, arranged no interest, and still save $75 in the price. If you cannot pay so fast, by waiting until your number is drawn you will get your piano on payments of $1 per week, no interest, and save $75 in the regular price to our retail trade. Think of this! Our club is composed of 350 members, each paying $1 per week. Thus you see the members are buying for cash, and one piano is delivered to the member whose number is drawn each week, until all are supplied, or, if one-half of the members take their pianos and pay $2 50 per week, we deliver twice the number, and get double the amount of cash each week, and it leaves only one-half the number to be drawn on the $1 weekly payments. It is a simple business We are saving our members the difference in price by contracting for 350 pianos at one time, and on a cash basis. GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

The Lending Ten House of the World. The Lending Ten House of the World.

It is no wonder that this tea company has met with such success when one takes into consideration the energy, enterprise and push displayed by it from their start in 1861 to the present day. The fact that the name of this firm has been copied in part to a greater extent than any other in the world goes to prove that its business was a great success.

There have, however, been no imitators who have made a notable success. The reason is not hard to discover. The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, with its 200 large stores in different cities of the United States, has been able to conduct its business on a scale of been able to conduct its business on a scale of magnitude that enabled it to obtain prices fa magnitude that enabled it to obtain prices far below its competitors, and thus sell to its patrons at the lowest prices. Everyone should call and examine their stock of teas, which include all the choicest varieties known. Most celebrated among these is the Thea-Nectar, put up in one-pound boxes, only 60c a pound. With each pound a special present is given. It is upon the fine quality and delightful flavor of this delicious brand of tea that much of the high reputation of the company has been built. It is worthy a place on any table.

This display, which is in west end of north gallery has cameras and in west end of north gallery, has cameras and in west end of north gallery, has cameras and tripods adroitly placed to show them to great-est advantage, and much ingenuity was em-ployed to give a fair chance to such a variety of lenses and cameras, among which latter is the "Kodak," which has enabled so many this season to bring home their own views of favor-ite spots visited. The rage for photography will be still more marked after everyone has taken in this charming exhibit.

Dabbs in the Art Gallery

In spite of the attractions in oil, crayon, pastelle and of etchings, the portraits of Mr. Dabbs' creation are as much a feature as anything exhibited. What would an Exposition be without Dabbs? Did he not take the honors without Dabbs? Did he not take the honors, even when competitors from abroad, came to the old building on Smoky Island and tried to shake the strong hold he has always maintained among his Pittsburg friends, and failed in their designs. Yes, Mr. Dabbs is in the advance.
